

Multidimensional Poverty Indicator: Political and technical elements, use and link to the 2030 Agenda in Mexico

Gonzalo Hernández Licona

2017

Multidimensional poverty measurement in Mexico: From a legal mandate to use

Constitutional mandate:
Importance of Social Rights

Constitutional mandate: Independent Institution to measure poverty: CONEVAL*

Coordination of public policy to tackle extreme poverty: Ministries; federal and local governments

Multidimensional poverty measurement: Basic access to social rights and income*

National, State and Municipality level

Public policy is visible with this approach

Multidimensional Poverty in Mexico

- It's a mandate by Congress, not from an specific government
- It's a political and technical agreement (national and international experts –OPHI- government, Congress, National Statistical Office)
- It's a tool for monitoring public policy and for accountability (independent institution measuring poverty)
- Public policy links better to poverty, than the income approach
- Each ministry is responsible for each dimension
- Local governments are measured: political pressure to reduce poverty
- MPI helps co-ordination between ministries and local governments
- Link to SDGs
